

Shorter Posts

Rohit Goswami · 2020-03-16 · tools · rationale · workflow · ideas

Background

Sometime this year, I realized that I no longer have access to a lot of my older communication. This included, a lot of resources I enjoyed and shared with the people who were around me at that point in time. To counter this, I have decided to opt for shorter posts, even if they don't always include the same level of detail I would prefer to provide.

Alternatives

- I have an automated system based around IFTTT combined with Twitter, Diigo, and even Pocket
- However, that doesn't really tell me much, and trawling through a massive glut of data is often pointless as well
- There's always Twitter, but I don't really care to hear the views of others when I want to revisit my own ideas

Conclusions

- I will be making shorter posts here, like the random one on octobox